"From week to week, from month to month, we lived A round of tumult."

"Tell me, all ye mighty wise,
Ye governors of colleges;
What deeper wisdom can you know
Than easy nature's works here show."

"Our groves were planted to console at noon The pensive wanderer in their shades, at eve The moonbeam, sliding softly in between The sleeping leaves is all the light they wish, Birds warbling all the music."

"On thy fair bosom, waveless stream, The dipping paddle echoes far, And flashes in the moonlight gleam And bright reflects the polar star."

"Where yon shadowy woodlands hide thee, And thy waters disappear, Friends I love have dwelt beside thee, And have made thy margin dear."

President

So important and vital in our life and thinking is a true conception of God that no young man or woman is in a position to make any far-reaching decisions on life's problems until they have first settled their relationship with their maker. To do so may, at any inconvenient period of life or at great loss, necessitate a complete change in one's program of living. It may involve set habits of thinking, a revolution in method or what is more difficult, a change in vocation altogether. The transfer may be made more difficult because one may become so enmeshed in social relationships that retreat is impossible. Consequently, educators must not only instruct in the arts and sciences but they must above all be able to lead their students into a living touch with God through a faith in Christ Jesus. This presents not only an opportunity but a challenge to every Christian institution, and every instructor as well as to every man and woman that knows the place and power of God in human life. To slight one's duty in this respect is to evade a most sacred responsibility for the highest cause that man can espouse.

Noah Oyer, Th.B Dean

Who is the liberally educated person? We turn almost instinctively to the scholar and the thinker for our reply—men who have laid foundations for broad, deep, accurate and well ordered knowledge, men who can reason and can properly relate and evaluate truth. And yet who has not known men of scholarly attainment, minds that functioned with mathematical precision, of whom it must be said—"they are not liberally educated." They are lacking in human sympathy and appreciation. In education as in the Christian Religion, a humble mind is a quality that is demanded of all who would "enter into the kingdom." Humility is not the passive, spineless quality of character it is so universally thought to be. It consists rather in seeing one's self in the proper perspective. The humble soul is conscious of its powers; it is strong, confident, courageous. But it is also conscious of its limitations, and herein lies its great strength. Such a soul cannot be vain, arrogant, coarse and self-centered, but finds its best expression in a noble altruism.

SILAS HERTZLER, Ph.D.

Education and Psychology

Registrar

As registrar, Dr. Hertzler applies the exact thoroughness with which he teaches. He has been head of the department of Education since 1927. In 1913 he was graduated from Goshen College. He has a B.D. degree from Yale Divinity School, an M.A. degree from Teachers' College, Columbia University, and his Ph.D. was obtained at Yale University. Dr. Hertzler is a member of the National Society of College Teachers of Education.

Katie M. Yoder Acting Dean of Women

As matron of Kulp Hall last year and as Dean of Women this year, Miss Yoder has won a place in the heart of each girl on the campus through her kindness. She is ever ready to share joys and sorrows and to offer her sympathy.

Daniel A. Lehman, M.A.

Mathematics and Astronomy

"Daddy" is the term of respect the students use in referring to Professor Lehman. He has been at Goshen College since 1906. He received his B.S. degree from Millersville State Normal, his Ph.B. degree from Wesleyan University, Connecticut, and his M.A. degree from Western Reserve University. He has studied at Lick Observatory, Chicago, Columbia, Michigan, and Colorado Universities. He holds memberships in the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the Mathematical Association of America.

Samuel W. Witmer, M.A. Biological Science

In 1914, Mr. Witmer received his B.A. degree from Goshen College, and the next year the M.A. degree from Wisconsin University. He has also done graduate work at Illinois, Chicago, and Wisconsin Universities. He has been at Goshen since 1916. As a member of the Indiana Academy of Science he is recognized as an authority on state flora. Professor Witmer also is a member of the Inland Bird Banding Society, the Botanical Society of America, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

GLEN R. MILLER, M.S.

Physical Science

After receiving his B.A. degree from Hesston College, Professor Miller continued his studies at the State University of Iowa where he later received his M.S. degree. In 1925 he came to Goshen as Professor of Physical Science. During the past two years he has been on leave of absence for graduate study at the State University of Iowa where he will receive his Ph.D. in June, 1930.

John Sylvanus Umble, M.A.

English

As chairman of the faculty committee on Debate and Oratory, Professor Umble is to be credited with building up a fine spirit and live interest in forensic contests. He received both his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Northwestern University. He has been head of the English department at Goshen College since 1925.

Gustav H. Enss, Th.M.
Philosophy and German

In 1929, Professor Enss came to Goshen as professor of Philosophy and German. He formerly studied in various schools in Russia, also at Berlin University, Germany, and Kansas University. Professor Enss received his Th.M. from the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Ft. Worth, Texas.

HAROLD STAUFFER BENDER, Th.M. Church History and Sociology Librarian

Professor Bender has imparted to the students his interest in and love for the forefathers of our Church. In 1924 he helped organize the Mennonite Historical Society and has been its president for six years. This year he published a Bibliography of Mennonite Literature. He received his B.A. degree from Goshen College in 1918, his B.D. degree from Garrett Biblical Institute, his M.A. from Princeton University, and his Th.M from Princeton Theological Seminary. He has studied at Tuebingen University, Germany.

GUY FRANKLIN HERSHBERGER, M.A. History

Professor Hershberger received his B.A. degree from Hesston College and his M.A. degree from the State University of Iowa. In 1925 he came to Goshen College as Professor of History. He has done graduate study at the University of Chicago.

As a member of the Peace Committee of Goshen College, Professor Hershberger has contributed much to bring about a relationship between the Mennonite Church and the National Peace Organizations.

ROLAND YODER, Ph.B. Economics and Commerce

Professor Yoder spent three years at Goshen College and then went to Chicago University to continue his studies, receiving the Ph.B. degree after one year. He was Graduate Student and Research Assistant in the College of Commerce and Administration, Chicago University, from 1926 to 1929. Since 1926 he has been Economic and Investment Counsellor for the Source Research Council.

DERK VIVIAN TIESZEN, B.A. Physical Science

After receiving his B.A. degree from Yankton College Mr. Tieszen took graduate work at the University of Chicago and the University of Colorado. During 1927-28 he served as Assistant Instructor at the University of Colorado. Professor Tieszen came to Goshen as Instructor in Physical Sciences in 1929. He is a memher of the Professional Chemists' Society, Alpha Chi Sigma; and of the American Chemical Society.

Mr. Camp graduated from Goshen College in 1928, receiving his A.B. degree. He took up graduate study at Harvard University the following year. This year he has returned to Goshen as assistant professor in the Mathematics department.

WILLARO HARVEY SMITH, M.A.

History and Political Science

Mr. Smith, after receiving his B.A. degree from Goshen College in 1928, continued his work toward his Master's degree, which he received from the University of Michigan in 1929. He has returned this year to his Alma Mater as assistant professor in the History department.

B. Frank Hartzler, B.A. Music

Professor Hartzler has been on the faculty since 1927 as head of the Music department. His work with the Choruses is very creditable and has brought many students to Goshen College. The classes in Voice increase each year. He received his B.A. from Goshen College, and studied at the University of Southern California College of Music, and under J. D. Brunk, A. S. Ebersole, J. Sample, A. Bavani, J. Powers, and F. L. Anderson.

EDITH M. WITMER, M.A.

Home Economics

Miss Witmer came to Goshen in 1926 well qualified as a teacher of Home Economics, having received her B.S. degree from Pennsylvania State College and her M.A. degree from Teachers' College, Columbia University. Through her untiring efforts the department was enlarged and a four year course outlined leading to a B.S. degree in Home Economics.

On account of serious illness she has been unable to continue her work this year.

Arthur L. Sprunger, B.A. Art

Mr. Sprunger has aroused an interest in and is helping the students to get an appreciation of art. He received his B.A. degree from Goshen College in 1922, and has studied in the Chicago Art Institute, the Academy of Fine Arts, Chicago, and has done private work with Karl Krafft. As an artist he ranks high in the State.

Amy Evelyn (Mrs.) Enss French

Mrs. Enss came to Goshen as teacher of French this year. She is a graduate of the College of Preceptors, London and has studied at Sheffield School of Art, England.

In 1919 Professor Cressman received his B.A. degree from Goshen College and later took his M.A. degree from the University of Michigan. During 1927-28 he was Teaching Fellow at the University of Pittsburg. Professor Cressman returned to Goshen in 1928 as a professor in the English department.

PEARL DETWEILER, B.A.

Home Economics

During the first week of the school term Miss Detweiler was called back to her Alma Mater as head of the department of Home Economics in the place of Miss Witmer, former instructor who was unable to return on account of illness.

Miss Detweiler received her B.A. degree from Goshen College in 1929, majoring in Home Economics. Having studied under Miss Witmer she was familiar with the methods of the department and was able to carry on the work.

Noble Kreider Piano

Mr. Kreider came as teacher of piano in 1929. He was a pupil of Clarence Forsyth, who accompanied him to London, Berlin and Paris, where he received instruction for a number of years, and took part in the musical life of these centers. Professor Kreider is a concert pianist, and a leading composer of piano music in America.

Edward F. Martin
Business Manager

For three years Mr. Martin has efficiently filled the position of Business Manager, having been appointed to the position when C. L. Graber was asked to take charge of the Endowment Drive for Goshen and Hesston Colleges.

Into the College of Goshen, along by the smooth flowing Elkhart, Known in the memory of many—our dear and glorious Parkside— Came they in groups from their homelands, the class of nineteen thirty.

Away from the shop and the schoolroom, away from the plow and the pulpit, Leaving the kitchen and counter, the tasks that they worked at so nobly; From the smooth rolling Illinois prairie, from the beautiful Iowa country, Up from the famed Shenandoah, up from the warm, balmy Gulfland, Leaving afar to the eastward the gardens of Lancaster County. Coming from Idaho, Kansas, Nebraska, the far western states of the Union, Out from the heart of Ohio and her sister, the fair Indiana, Sailing across ocean waters from the mountains and plains of far India-Came they with aim, held in common. All of them came with a purpose, a strong and a guiding desire— "Culture for Service" their motto and "Climb though the rocks be rugged." Four years they worked hard and faithful, directed by excellent teachers, Profiting well by instruction, holding high the scholarly standards; In basketball, tennis, and track meet they played with an equal interest; Out of their ranks keen debaters and brilliant orators came. In work for the Church and their Master they strove with a warm earnest spirit,-In this lay their center of interest, their ultimate goal and ambition. They frequently gathered together in home of sponsor or classmate, Spending evenings in pleasant diversions of taffy pulls, oyster stews, sleigh rides. Four years they continued together, harmoniously planning and working, Till June of the year nineteen thirty rang out the bells of Commencement, Pealing, "Part now, 'tis time, away to your own place of service, Away from these halls and this campus, away from your many associates, Away from the dam and the river, away from the lane of the lovers, Away! Press forward not stopping-real life is strenuous living. Give, give! Share with others the fruits of your four years of learning." They left and the years must continue the tale of their service for others, They left with the purpose they entered, "Not ourselves, our Father, but others."

Class Gift

As a memorial to the Class of 1930 and as a gift to our Alma Mater, the Seniors have established a Scholarship Fund by the following resolution which was officially passed on April 11, 1930:

WHEREAS: Goshen College would be greatly benefitted by a scholarship; and

WHEREAS: Goshen College possesses no scholarships; and

WHEREAS: We, the Class of 1930, feel that a scholarship would be an appropriate expression of our gratitude to our Alma Mater and a help to worthy students,

BE IT RESOLVED: That the class of '30 establish a scholarship fund under the following provisions:

SECTION I. This scholarship shall be known as "The Class of 1930 Scholarship."

Section II. The said scholarship fund shall be at least $1000. All income from said scholarship fund above tuition for one semester shall be reinvested as principle until a sufficient amount has accumulated to award other scholarships.

Section III. The scholarship shall be awarded to a Freshman at the close of the first semester on the basis of scholarship and character by a committee composed of the President, Dean, and Registrar.

Section IV. A committee composed of five members elected by the Class shall act as trustees of the scholarship.

SECTION V. The said committee shall have charge of investment, and all other details.

Section VI. The said committee shall have power to increase the number of scholarships and amount of each scholarship as they deem desirable, and to change the scholarships from a second semester to a first semester whenever that is found to be advisable.

Section VII. After a period of 10 years the said committee shall have the power to transfer the trusteeship to the Endowment Committee.

SECTION VIII. All pledges shall be paid no later than December 15, 1930.

SECTION IX. Any Section of this resolution may be amended by a majority vote of the class.

-THE CLASS OF 1930.

THE HAPPY JUNIOR

(With apologies to Wordsworth)

Who is the happy Junior? Who is he That every college man would wish to be? -A member of a worthy family Of traits and talents in variety-This class of twenty-five has forward pressed Thru "Alpine paths," thru learning curves progressed; Thru perseverance has it climbed and stood In promise of a brilliant Seniorhood. A class with natural instinct to discern What knowledge can bring-diligent to learn How such small numbers can be useful made And prove their dashes of a worthy grade. A class that shines in scholars—nor stops there, But also makes forensics its prime care,-Claims men who in discussions won the prize, Victorious women-when occasions rise To argue immigration their own way. Those colors are still flying to this day! Less boastful in athletics, save when call Revengeful spirits in girls' basketball, When fates decree that worthy Seniors fall, And turn exulting tables in Kulp Hall. Two all-around athletes have in track surpassed; One held full tennis honors to the last. Seven Juniors hold important cabinet chairs; Seven Juniors know the publication cares; Four classmen march in professorial train, Turning necessity to glorious gain; While artists, singers, writers on the roll Are climbing with real leaders toward the goal. A faithful class with singleness of aim-Contented not to live alone in name, But each aspires to leave a task well done To prove his record when the race is run. This is the happy Junior! This is he That every college man would wish to be!

Brunk Slabaugh Keiser Musselman

Ruth Minerva Brunk Ellisville, Mississippi

Reserved, dignified, and serene she appears; yet underneath that unruffled exterior there lies a great deal of mischief and jollity. Her varied abilities, her artistic talents, and genuine amity are valuable class assets.

Paul T. Slabaugh Goshen, Indiana

Paul, hospitable, likeable, has the ability to readily orient students with Goshen College in traditions and customs. He is always active, and optimistic in the face of all difficulties.

LOREN S. KING West Liberty, Ohio

Let "King" do your boosting. He can put anything across successfully from chain store promotion to painting the town. His continual grin is a great asset to class jollity.

Barbara Hershberger Goshen, Indiana

Barbara tries to hide behind a cloak of seriousness and studiousness but her sparkling brown eyes betray her goodnatured humor and wit. (Not on the picture).

A. Yoder King L. Heatwole Hunsicker

ORA KEISER Manson, Iowa

"Keiser" is talented, determined, and gets things done. He is always dependable and true to his convictions. Conscientious and well-behaved, he is a Christian gentleman.

MARY MUSSELMAN Orrtanna, Pennsylvania

A good sport, full of fun, and a supporter of all that is worthwhile. Her jovial good nature is contagious and she is not afraid to tackle any problem.

M. ARLINE YODER West Liberty, Ohio

Of a happy and carefree disposition is Arline. Her friendly, dignified manner, and quiet persistence aid her in accomplishing whatever she sets out to do.

HARLEY M. HUNSICKER Blooming Glen, Pennsylvania

"Huns" is one of our capable and ambitious Juniors, mighty in more ways than one,—jolly and sociable, with an eye for business and an ear for music.

T. Weaver N. Miller Hostetler R. Weaver Hallman Hershberger Swope Kreider R. Heatwole

TITUS WEAVER Walnut Creek, Ohio

The best natured fellow in school! He knows all about hills, basketball, cheese, tennis, and friendliness. His splendid loyalty and genial helpfulness is much appreciated by his classmates.

Nellie Mae Miller Middlebury, Indiana

Varied in ability, Nellie is a hard worker in whatever task she undertakes. Basketball and debating are her chief recreations.

Ellis Hostetler Dalton, Ohio

Energetic and business-like, that's Ellis. He is always pleasant and courteous, never blue, loaded to capacity with work, yet time to make friends.

RACHEL WEAVER Goshen, Indiana

Scholarly, cheerful, and full of pep, Rachel possesses a keen sense of wit and humor, and can do anything from reading Latin to giving toasts. She has a host of friends.

ABRAM P. HALLMAN Falfurrias, Texas

Abe is a student, an athlete, and a gentleman. He has a liking for Economics, a spirit of open mindedness and fair play, good judgment, and strong convictions.

Dora E. Hershberger Shipshewana, Indiana

Being naturally curious, she loves to investigate matters. English and History are her special fields of interest. She is one of our bright students and finds hard lessons a pleasure.

PAUL SWOPE Columbiana, Ohio

A tenor, a pianist, a student, an officer in many organizations, a conscientious committee-man, a man of refinement, and a prominent figure on the campus.

LEONARD C. KREIDER Wadsworth, Ohio

Scientist, photographer, tennis player, a real student. "Kreider" possesses unusual ability in the field of science and mathematics.

RUTH HEATWOLE La Junta, Colorado

Friendliness, wit, frankness, and versatility are inextricably woven into this sparkling original personality from Colorado. Her varied talents, her energy and fine executive ability have made her an invaluable prop in every enterprise.

ORIE J. EIGSTI Morton, Illinois

An all-around collegiate man! He is thorough as a student, active in extracurricular activities, outstanding in athletics, and a keen lover of human nature and brilliant conversation.

Olive Lucille Miller La Grange, Indiana

Quiet and reserved, but what she says counts. We know her best as the neat and efficient assistant behind the librarian's desk. Always busy! Never would she sacrifice scholarship for pleasure.

PERRY MILLER Shipshewana, Indiana

Although not a full time student, we know Perry to be a good scholar with a cheery disposition and helping hand.

Rosa G. Gish Lancaster, Pennsylvania

Reserved and dignified, you must stop and cultivate her friendship before you are aware of the depth of character and noble thoughts of this young lady.

KATIE M. REBER Wellman, Iowa

Her notebooks are marvels and how her grade card shines! No matter where she lays her finger she leaves a trace of thoroughness, calmness and dependability that cannot be outclassed.

BARBARA F. COFFMAN Vineland, Ontario

Batbara's talents are many and varied. She excells on the basketball floor; she is a most efficient librarian; and yet she takes plenty of time for the development of her deeper life.

RAY YODER Wakarusa, Indiana

"Ray" is an artist and scholar. Talented and industrious, he's always working out an art project for someone.

ORA M. YODER Shipshewana, Indiana

Rather serious minded, but full of life, Ora has no enemies. With persistence and determination he has a purpose in life and will not stop until it has been attained.

Lean C. Risser Hershey, Pennsylvania

She is quiet and unassuming, with a refined enthusiasm for all that's going on. A diligent and good worker.

CLASS OFFICERS

James Steiner	President
JOE SWOPE	Vice President
KATHERINE ROYER	Secretary
David Esch	Treasurer

On September 11, 1929 ninety freshmen found a welcome at Goshen College. Records in the registrar's office tell us that this is the largest class in the history of the college but none of us want the class of 1934 to remain the largest for we hope to see more and more students in the future taking advantage of the opportunities that Goshen offers.

Although we felt perfectly capable of managing our affairs we were fortunate in having the leadership of the junior class officers the first six weeks. After this period James Steiner was elected president. The class chose "truth, loyalty, and service" as its motto, the purple pansy, signifying thought, for its flower and in harmony with the color of the flower chose purple and gold for the class colors.

The class was anxious to take part in forensic and athletic activities. The men's debate team debated with the sophomores, the question, Resolved: "That the United States Should Cancel the Interallied War Debts." Upholding the affirmative of the argument the freshmen won by a two to one decision. In the second semester the women's debate team debated the question of State Controlled Medicine with the Sophomores. In the midst of their preparation the coach, Professor Bender, was needed for work in Europe and had to leave. Although the debaters were "orphans" for two weeks they continued their work. Mr. Camp, who was later elected class advisor in the absence of Professor Bender, took charge of the team the last few weeks. After the very interesting debate twenty-one people thought the Sophomores deserved a victory and nineteen favored the Freshmen. The critic judge cast a two to one decision in favor of the Sophomore negative. Not only in debate but also in oratory and discussion did the Freshmen find opportunity to develop their talents. Freshmen orators won two places in the Peace Oratorical Contest.

The class was also prominent in their athletic achievements. Two freshmen teams were entered in the intra-mural basketball league. Our A team came through the season undefeated. In March the two freshmen teams met in the championship game of the tournament. Thus both first and second places were won by the freshmen teams—another new record.

During the year three parties were held. The first, a conjoint party with the Juniors, was held at College Point. It seems quite fitting that the first party should be held at this traditional site. At Hallowe'en time, having little fear of spooks, we gladly accepted the Juniors invitation to a Hallowe'en party in the gymnasium. Although only freshmen we stood our trip through the basement of the Science Hall quite well. The third party of the year was given in the reading room on Saturday evening, March 8.

Quite a few of the students in our class plan to be teachers next year and we wish them success. Hoping that most of the class can be back, we are looking forward to another interesting and successful year.

ACADEMY

Goshen College Academy

The statement, "The Academy or Private School was a trailblazer for the modern American high school," is a generally accepted fact. The question that occasionally arises about the private school is the following: "Does it still have a worth while purpose and is the accomplishment of that purpose sufficient to warrant its existence?" The general aim of the average American high school is to prepare a group of young people for college entrance. This also is the purpose of the Goshen College Academy; however it is not the primary aim. We aim to send from our academy a constant stream of students well trained ethically and religiously. We also aim to give them a scholarly education. Those combined purposes fit the Academy students to take their place among their fellowmen.

That Goshen College Academy has higher standards than those of the average high school, well bears consideration. The faculty is composed of well trained Christian men and women that take a personal interest in the individual student. That the life of an instructor plays an important part in the development of a student's life may not be ignored. Reasonably small classes allow an intimate contact to be built up between student and teacher; a factor of greater importance than we sometimes think. A moderately sized student body develops the worth and power of the individual. The contact which may be made with the mature college students offers a decided advantage over the regular high school. Our records during the past few years reveal that we have a student body of unusual ability and scholarship; it further shows that over fifty per cent of our graduating students pursue education beyond the secondary school, many entering college or the teaching profession. Other of our graduates enter the field of nursing. Not a few return to their former farming communities; a pursuit we heartily endorse.

The following question is often asked of the private school or academy: "Is the academy growing or is it on the decline?" A study of the history of the academies reveals that some denominations have discontinued their academies, while others are organizing new ones. A study of the past enrollment of the Goshen College Academy, dating back to the Elkhart Institute (Academy) shows a fluctuation about a common enrollment, with a moderate increase during some terms and a decrease during other terms. If the past record is an indication of what to expect in the future, and our constituents continue to realize the importance of an academy we shall continue to represent them with an endeavor to develop our young people physically, intellectually, socially, morally, and spiritually, and perhaps influence hundreds of our young people attending schools, where the influence tends to draw them away from the principles of the Faith, the Church, and God.

ELMA BIXLER Orrville, Ohio

Conscientious and thorough, she gets the most out of her work and wins A's. Besides being devoted to high scholarship she is actively interested in the athletic and religious organizations. Because she is somewhat different many folks do not learn to know the real Elma—jolly, generous, noble.

Ruby Yontz Goshen, Indiana

Her pleasant smile radiates cheer, jollity, and genuine good-naturedness. She is efficient on the basketball floor, in literary, and in the classroom. Where Laverne is you will find Ruby also.

Dorothy Wenger Goshen, Indiana

Quiet, modest, and shy Dorothy appears. Believing that "haste makes waste," she works silently and steadily. We find in her kindness, willingness, and loyalty.

Christophel Good

Frances Christophel Goshen, Indiana

"Fran's" good-natured smile, dimples, and sincere blue eyes win her friends. She is modest, studious, and capable. She has proved her talents in the classroom, literary, and as our class president.

LAVERNE YODER Goshen, Indiana

Friendly, clever, and quick, she is wide awake in the class room, gymnasium, and social room. She is able to express herself quite emphatically and freely. We prize her as our best athlete and dramatic reader.

VIOLA GOOD Petersburg, Ontario

A Good by name and by nature. If you want help, ask Viola, and she will do her best for you. Her pleasant ways and noble Christian character have won for her the respect of us all.

Selena Gamber, Manheim, Pennsylvania

"Miss Gamber" is a missionary indeed for she is always ready to serve, whether the task be lowly or of high degree. She is considerate, unassuming, and quiet, but also has a keen sense of humor and a stimulating optimism.

Hazel Smucker Goshen, Indiana

She is always ready to lend a helping hand if you wait just a minute. She is candid, sincere, and industrious. She has won a place in the A Cappella chorus, and in our athletic teams.

Margaret Yoder Goshen, Indiana

Margaret is kindhearted, has a word for everyone, and is always willing to do her bit in whatever is assigned to her.

MARY GRABILL Goshen, Indiana

A curly-haired "Hoosier," whose determination, earnest and conscientious efforts, and steadfastness have won for her the rewards of a good student.

ILAH ABSHIRE Goshen, Indiana

Although she was with us only one semester we appreciate her spirit of good will, eagerness to learn, diligence, and impartiality.

Elva Gunden Goshen, Indiana

We were glad to welcome this lass from Illinois. Although quiet, she is active in literary and classroom work, and gets good grades.

EDNA AMSTUTZ Orrville, Ohio

Edna excels in the scholastic, musical, and literary phases of school life. With grace and ease she passes through the halls dispensing her smiling greetings. In the classroom we soon recognize her dexterity, good judgment, and thorough work.

The Summer Session, June 10 to August 10

The summer session for 1929 was in every way the most successful of recent years. The attendance was 62,—more than a 50% increase over the previous summer. Of this number 43 were college students, many of them teachers of long experience who wished to broaden their scholastic outlook as well as to advance themselves professionally. Several were teachers who already held an academic degree, but who wished further specialized courses to satisfy requirements for a teaching license. Others were seniors who lacked specific requirements for graduation, which could be made up by summer study. Several were teachers who come to Goshen each summer, and who plan ultimately to finish work for the B.A. degree mainly through summer work.

The curriculum offering was made as wide as possible considering the number in attendance, their interests, desires, and needs. Courses were offered in biological science, in English, in German, in history, in psychology and in education. Regular classes were taught in the academy also, in English, in history and in economics. Academy work was done by tutoring in algebra and in plane geometry.

Students came from seven states of the United States, with one also from Argentine in South America. The states represented were Virginia, Texas, Colorado, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. Indiana, with 38, had the largest representation, though Ohio sent 16 students, with one and two each from the remaining states and countries named.

The extra curricular life of the summer session was cared for by the organization of a general committee, with duties based on a constitution adopted a previous summer. William Hallman was president of this group, with Icie Steiner, secretary-treasurer. Committees were appointed to have charge of athletics, literary work, religious life and social activities. The literary and social committee co-operated with the literary society of the resident college congregation and several joint programs were held. The athletic committee arranged for tennis, croquet, and other activities in keeping with warm summer weather. Regular weekly devotional meetings were held on the campus if weather permitted, and inside in case an outdoor meeting was not possible. Among the outside speakers were, Rev. Ernest J. Bohn, Tiskilwa, Illinois; Rev. A. M. Eash, Chicago; Rev. R. L. Hartzler, Carlock, Illinois; and Rev. Oscar Burkholder of Breslau, Ontario. A series of faculty addresses also was given during the regular chapel hour, once or twice each week during the summer session.

Goshen College offers its students a wide range of courses in the Bible School. The curriculum of the Bible School is biblio-centric. It draws most of its materials directly from the Bible text and places especial emphasis on the text of the English Bible. Students who wish to make a more thorough study of the Scriptures may pursue courses in the original Hebrew and Greek of the Old and New Testaments. While the curriculum is centered in the Bible, the intrinsic value of closely related courses is also recognized. Church history is of value in tracing the development and application of Christianity through the centuries; doctrinal theology gathers the cardinal ideas of Christianity into a working system; practical theology and religious education attempt the discovery of the best methods that can be used in applying Christianity to our present-day needs. Ample provision is made in the curriculum for these related courses.

The interest of the students in the courses of the Bible School is gratifying. More than one-half of the college students register in one or more Bible courses. Four groups of students are interested in the work of the department. The first includes those who choose some of their elective courses in Bible. This number is increasing each year. The second group is interested in a distinctively Bible course, and a two year curriculum has been arranged to meet their needs. One student is graduating from this course this year. The third group select their major for the BA. degree in Bible, and prepare in this way for direct Christian service. A fourth group selects a larger amount of the advanced Bible courses, either in the senior year or after graduation from the Liberal Arts course, and apply these credits for advanced standing at a graduate theological seminary. Students who have followed this last course have continued their graduate work in the seminary with gratifying success.

The course of study for the Special Bible Term has been revised and made more attractive to our young people. The new courses are organized in such a way that each book of the Old and New Testaments will have been studied in a cycle of six terms of six weeks each. A number of related courses are also offered, such as Biblical Introduction, Biblical Geography and History, Sunday School Teacher Training, Pastoral Work, Church History, and Music. The second section of this course was offered this year under the able instruction of I. W. Royer.

A permanent feature of the Bible School is the annual Minister's Week and the Christian Life Conference held at the close of the Special Bible Term. The usual enthusiasm for these projects was in evidence again this year. The programs

A permanent feature of the Bible School is the annual Minister's Week and the Christian Life Conference held at the close of the Special Bible Term. The usual enthusiasm for these projects was in evidence again this year. The programs that were arranged attracted a large number of ministers and young people. Lectures were given in the ministers' sessions on the work of the pastor, evangelism, present day problems of the ministry and Bible study. The most inspiring feature of the Christian Life Conference was the participation of the young people. It was evident from their addresses and discussions that they are at grips with the issues of Christian life and experience.

Special and Night School Students

Several took advantage of the opportunity and attended the classes in the evening that were held the first semester. Others were able to come to the regular day classes. This is the first year that there have been evening classes and there were a goodly number of town people enrolled. Regular professors conducted the classes and full credit was given for the work done. The classes were discontinued for the second semester but will undoubtedly be organized next fall if there is enough call for them. The College is glad for the opportunity to serve the community in this way and extends thanks to those who were enrolled.

On every college campus we find some form of organization which endeavors to center the ideals and attitudes of the students in true and honest living. The Council, being a representative group, has given the students opportunity to assist in forming that spirit which is hard to describe but present on the campus. It takes effort and cooperation to establish standards and ideals which are necessary for any group to have in order to enjoy their year of school fellowship. Fellowship, meaning more than mere attendance at college, is possible when students realize that there are certain common interests in which every one can share. The Council has tried to keep these interests before the student body.

A Courtesy Week program was given the week previous to Homecoming, Thanksgiving Day, November 28. Several talks were given by students calling attention to the little things we know about and yet forget to do in making others happy. The Council helped in several functions of the school, two of which were the Thanksgiving Homecoming and Men's Chorus reception after their annual tour. It is such affairs that help keep the spirit of students centered upon the right things and aid in unifying instead of separating into sections.

The Council has enjoyed its work with the student body and faculty and wishes to thank them for their interest in maintaining the ideals of our dear Alma Mater.

Y. M. C. A.

It is the aim and purpose of the Y. M. C. A. of Goshen College to lead the student to faith in God through Jesus Christ, to promote growth in Christian faith and character, and to promote throughout the College a positive, moral and religious spirit.

In order to have a well rounded Christian character it is necessary to develop spiritually and socially as well as mentally and physically. The spiritual development, through the Bible and Mission study classes, devotional and prayer meetings, and social development through the social activities have received special attention by the Y. M. C. A.

Y. W. C. A.

The purpose of the Y. W. C. A. of Goshen College is to realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God; to make this life possible for others; to seek to understand Jesus better and to follow Him. Through discussion groups, meetings, worship, committees, and speakers it attempts to go deeper into the hearts and minds of those on the campus and outside, and to thus find the way of making life richer and deeper for each one. To have Christ living in our ordinary everyday life and through his strength face the problems that arise,—that is our aim.

A set of Articles of Agreement between the Vesperian, the Avon, the Aurora, and the Adelphian Literary Societies of Goshen College were drawn up on March 15, 1926. These Articles of Agreement specify and regulate the activities of the four societies and provide for an Intersociety Council to have charge of all matters pertaining to intersociety relations. The council consists of two members from each society and the chairman of the Faculty Committee on Student Organizations. The first meeting is called by the faculty member and the council organizes by electing a president and a secretary from among its members.

The most interesting and most active organizations on the campus are the literary societies. Since they are so closely related in purpose and activity a number of questions arise which the Articles of Agreement do not specifically answer. The most usual of these questions pertain to the arrangement of time and number of conjoint public programs and to the solicitation of new members.

The Students' Library Association is an organization which includes all members of the school literary societies. The executive committee of the Association is a book committee which is composed of the chairman, who is a faculty member, and one representative from each literary society. The work of this committee is to choose the books which are added to the college library every year through funds received from each literary society. To this purpose a certain per cent of the literary fees is devoted every year by each society. The choice of books is made chiefly from lists of books suggested by the different faculty members. This insures a varied selection and in this way no department is neglected.

A real contribution has been made to the college library through the work of the Association. Every year from fifty to seventy books are purchased with Association funds. This year the available amount was approximately one hundred and thirty-five dollars, with which fifty-five books were ordered.

Alta Brenneman	President
RUTH MILLER	Vice President
ADELIA HOSTETLER	Secretary

The purpose of this Club is to develop a professional spirit among the members, and to keep in touch with the current topics of Home Economics.

Miss Detweiler was chosen by the Club at our first meeting in the fall of 1929 to be Club Advisor in the absence of Miss Witmer. After a brief business period four new members were voted in after which our President addressed the Club on Who's Who in Our Home Economics. She emphasized home-making to be the basis of all business and that the higher the standards the better the home.

Not many days before Christmas vacation we had a most interesting program where were discussed topics such as the following: "Wrapping of Christmas Gifts," "Christmas Decorations and Lightings," "Christmas Table," "Christmas Menu and Candies."

Early in the new year Mrs. Gladys Roupp, R.N., gave us a practical talk on the subject of "A Preventative Medicine." We were also fortunate to hear another worthwhile talk later in the year on "Music in the Home" by Mrs. Arthur Sprunger.

With these varied yet educational meetings we feel that the Club has not defeated its purpose. The young women of the Club have developed a keener interest in the making of a more beneficial Home Economics organization. The two short years of the life of the Club has proved to many the worthwhileness of its purpose. May its influence continue to encourage interest in the Home Economics work and promote its growth.

The Science Club of Goshen College has enjoyed its third year of work in the interest of science. The following lectures have been given: "Rubber and Its Products," M. M. Latta, Engineer Western Rubber Company; "Milk Condensation," F. S. Ebersole, Goshen Milk Condensery; "Cathode Tubes," E. C. Leamon, Central Scientific Company, Chicago; "Storage Batteries," T. C. Bartlett, Bartlett Electric Company, Goshen; "Aviation," Ed Voras, Goshen; "Heart Action," Jonathan Yoder, Indiana Medical School; "Astronomy," Professor D. A. Lehman, Goshen College; "Plant Diseases of Elkhart County," Silas Smucker, Goshen College.

There is a need to acquaint students with the commercial work which uses many scientific processes in production of goods. This was provided by having outside speakers who have been successful in their field of scientific work. The club is trying to stimulate an interest in the fields of science and to help students center their interest in some work in which they intend to devote their life. The Annual Science Club banquet was held on May 29, and marked the close of a successful year for the club.

Mennonite Historical Society

HAROLD S. BENDER	President
Guy F. Hershberger	Vice-President
SILAS HERTZLER	Secretary
C. L. Graber	Treasurer

The society endeavors to promote interest in and information concerning the history of Anabaptists and Mennonites in all its phases by holding four public programs yearly at Goshen College, and by contributing to such work in other communities and through church periodicals. It furthers the study of Mennonite history by collecting and caring for an extensive Mennonite historical library at Goshen College, which has now reached the total of approximately 1,500 volumes in addition to a large number of pamphlets, manuscripts, and other objects of historical value. The society has also undertaken the publication of original material in the field of Mennonite history. This year the society held three public meetings. The programs given were as follows: January 10, "The Pennsylvania Dutch and Their Language," an address by Professor John Umble, with dialect readings; February 11, "Fifty Years of Mennonite Missions," addresses and reminiscences by C. Z. Yoder and J. S. Hartzler, missionary pioneers; May 1, "The General Conference Mennonite Mission in India," by C. H. Suckau, pastor, Mennonite Church, Berene, Indiana.

Late in 1929 the society published its first book, Two Centuries of American Mennonite Literature, 1727-1928, by Professor Bender, the president of the society. This volume, which is a complete bibliography of Mennonitica Americana will prove a valuable aid to all engaged in Mennonite historical research.

Foreign Volunteer and Christian Workers Bands

The Foreign Volunteer Band this year emphasized the preparation and attitude of a foreign volunteer. The band was composed of regular members who have definitely decided to do foreign work subject to further leading, and associate members who are especially interested in foreign seervice but as yet have made no definite decision.

Special stress was placed on the necessity of being ready and content to work anywhere God leads.

Among those who spoke to the band were active workers from home and foreign fields and also the President and Secretary of the General Mission Board.

The Christian Workers Band met every Sunday morning at six-thirty until the Foreign Volunteer Band was reorganized in December. For the rest of the year the two bands met on alternate Sundays. The Christian Workers band aimed to direct the attention of the students to possibilities for service in their home communities. The programs, accordingly, were arranged to present opportunities for work that every Christian student will find in the home church and also to suggest ways of working. The Band surveyed several sections of Goshen and then began a systematic distribution of literature to those attending no Sunday School. One hundred fifteen families were reached this year.

Forensics

Outstanding features of forensic contests this year were the unusual interest and the superior character of the work done. When the date for the discussion contest was announced eighteen men decided to enter. The faculty committee through an elimination contest selected eight men to compete for the three prizes. One of the eight dropped out, leaving seven contestants in the finals, the largest number that has ever participated.

Since all of the discussions were of sufficient merit to receive a prize in most of the preceding annual contests, the judges were obliged to deliberate for some time before agreeing on the winners. Leonard Kreider, for his speech, "The Cosmic Crucible," a discussion of astronomical phenomena and the cosmic universe, won first prize of fifteen dollars. This type of subject has always been strongly favored by committees judging the annual discussion contests; but Mr. Kreider's easy manner on the stage and his ready delivery were important factors in his success. Second place, carrying with it a prize of ten dollars, went to Niemann Brunk for his clear, interesting presentation of "Social Insurance in Russia." Abram Hallman won third prize of five dollars with his discussion of "Prohibition and Prosperity." His surprisingly excellent delivery and his thorough handling of both sides of the much-debated question caught the fancy of the judges. Of the less fortunate contestants, John Bender deserves special mention for his discussion of "Contemporary Empire Building." Other entrants and their subjects were J. Forrest Kanagy, "The Federal Reserve System"; Lester Litwiller, "The Manufacture of Paper"; and Lewis J. Yordy, "Aerated Distilled Water for Drinking Purposes."

Judges for the contest were: Professor Kendall of Concord High School, Rev. T. E. George of the Church of the Brethren, and Rev. J. F. Stuckman of the First Brethren Church. Amasa G. Hoovens contributed ten dollars toward the first prize, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Greenawalt gave third prize and "friends of the boys" contributed the remainder.

Six men participated in the B. F. Deahl Annual Peace Oratorical Contest, April 4. During the previous four years the number had ranged from two to four. Here again several orations that would easily have won a place in any of the previous contests failed to place on account of the unusual excellence of the contest as a whole. That judging was extremely difficult is shown by the conflicting opinions of the judges. One contestant who was given first place by two of the judges was ranked sixth by the third. This same judge gave first to another contestant who was ranked rather low by the others. In the compromise decision finally reached by the judges, first place was awarded to a contestant who at first had not been given higher rank than second, while those who each had one or more firsts were ranked second and third respectively. An unusual feature of the contest was that the three winners were a sophomore and two freshmen. This augurs well for future contests.

The winners and their subjects were: Niemann Brunk, fifteen dollars in gold, "Propaganda and Peace"; James Steiner, ten dollars in gold, "The Tale of the Golden Pen"; and Paton Yoder, five dollars in gold, "Propaganda or Truth." Here again John Bender deserves special mention for an excellent oration on "Imperialism and Peace." The other contestants were Ezra Beachy and Loren King.

The orations were judged by two sets of judges. Dean Paul Erb of Hesston College and Professor Hershberger of our College graded the manuscripts. Principal O. L. Walter of Goshen High School, Principal C. J. Gerber of the Wakarusa High School and Rev. T. E. George of the Church of the Brethren judged the orations as a whole. The prizes were awarded in person by the donor, Attorney B. F. Deahl, who delivered an inspiring address in connection with the ceremony.

Looking back over the year the committee has one regret—that the women of the college failed to respond to the call of Attorney Deahl for a women's oratorical contest. He has offered thirty dollars in gold to be distributed to the winners. However, the women promise to put on a superior contest next year.

The Men's Chorus of thirty-three members and the Ladies' Chorus of thirty-two members composed the A Cappella Chorus. It was not possible for the combined Chorus to take an extensive trip but only several short ones including the one to Chicago, Illinois. Programs were given in several of the neighboring churches and high schools. At most of these places the houses were filled to capacity and the audiences expressed approval of the numbers rendered.

The outstanding numbers of the A Cappella chorus this year were "Goin' Home" (Dvorak); and "As the Waves of the Sea" (Gretchaninoff). The Ladies' Chorus best numbers were "By Babylon's Wave" (Gounod-Harris); and "God is my Guide" (Schubert). Handel's piece "Holy Art Thou" again appeared on the Men's program along with such numbers as "Still, Still With Thee," "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones," and "The Sweet By and By."

Entrance into the choruses this year depended on the interest of the individual in the chorus work and the tone quality and sight reading ability. Grades were given on the examinations by capable judges. Through the untiring efforts of the director and the hearty cooperation of each individual the work this year surpassed that of previous years. Truly the center of interest in Goshen College is in musical activities. And that is rightly so since music has a high cultural value and the motto of our College is "Culture for Service."

The Lecture Committee is composed of the chairman, Professor S. W. Witmer, and a representative from each literary society. This student committee, with aid of the faculty lecture committee, investigates the available talent and selects, in consideration of finances, the year's lecture course. The course usually consists of five or six numbers, distributed quite evenly through the school year. The committee takes charge of publicity and the sale of tickets. The course has always been well supported by an interested student body and community.

The first lecture of the 1929-1930 course was given during Homecoming Week in November, 1929. Judge Marcus A. Kavanagh, of Chicago, one of the foremost jurists of the country, spoke to us on the subject, "Traitors to Justice."

In December we were favored by an illustrated travel lecture on "Malaysia" by Dr. Fay-Cooper Cole. The lecture, accompanied by the splendid slides, was a very interesting one.

Orpheus Moyer Schantz, the third lecturer, described to us very vividly the Appalachian regions of eastern Tennessee. Mr. Schantz is an authority on natural history, and the slides he used also added to the interest of the lecture.

On February 7, 1930, we were entertained by Vachel Lindsay, the famous American poet. He read to us a number of his captivating, rhythmical poems, and, chanted in his own inimitable way, they were very appealing.

Dr. C. McCoy Franklin of Crossnore, North Carolina, addressed us February 24, 1930. He told us of conditions among the mountaineers of this part of the country and the personal touch added by his own experience made the lecture very interesting.

The final number of the course was given by Chief Strongheart, a Yokima Indian, who portrayed the life of his vanishing race. He very well interpreted the life of the Red man of early days.

Altogether, the course of the past year was very satisfactory, and the committee is working on plans for a course composed of numbers of very good talent for next year.

During the past year the directorate of the Association has been concerned chiefly with the question of the function and purpose of an alumni association. Two meetings of this board have been held, one on December 12, 1929, the other on April 24, 1930. At the former meeting two resolutions grew out of the discussion on the function of such an association; first, "That the executive committee of the Board of Directors make suggestive plans for a committee to cooperate with the Board of Education"; second, "That this same executive committee make suggestive plans for a College Relations Committee." To date neither of these plans has been brought to maturity but both suggestions are receiving the consideration of the committee and a report will be made at the next meeting of the entire association in June. At this same meeting it was decided to enlarge the size and increase the number to four issues per year of the News Letter. A maximum expenditure of twenty-five dollars was set as the appropriation for each issue.

Another vital matter to be discussed was a proposed change in the membership policy of the association. At the second meeting of the directors Professor John S. Umble presented a report on methods and policies current in Midwestern colleges. It was found that the great majority of institutions now admit former students to membership in their alumni associations although many of them do not admit ex-students until the classes of which they were members have graduated. This would seem to be a very reasonable provision. Many associations also, while admitting former students to membership, do not permit them to hold office. The advisability of this would seem to be somewhat more open to question. These are some of the forward-looking policies which have been considered during the current year. Final decision on them must be reserved until the annual meeting in June.

Of further interest is the report of the alumni endowment solicitor that $12,000 of the goal of $15,000 to be raised from the years 1927 to 1930 has been secured in cash and pledges.

We may well ask ourselves what is the real purpose of an alumni association. This purpose it would seem is twofold. First and foremost is the ideal of fellowship. No association can exist without it. This is the essential reason why such a group is organized. It is a means of helping to perpetuate the friendships of college days by bringing together graduates and former students. The marked tendency of students as they leave their alma mater is to be scattered far and wide with a diversity of interests. An alumni association should be the active agency in helping these people to keep in touch with each other. Underneath all is the conception of fellowship. This is primary. In the second place the alumni association should seek to promote the best interests of the college it serves. Pride in the alma mater and a desire to advance its welfare serve as an additional bond to link together these former students. The function of an alumni association, then? A common fellowship with a common interest in a common cause.

The purpose of athletics at Goshen College is to provide physical activity and wholesome recreation for every student. With this in view the Athletic Association had for their slogan this year "an activity for everyone and everyone active." The faculty committee has oversight of the athletics and has stressed intramural athletics and Goshen College has never engaged in an inter-collegiate competition.

The program has been quite successful this year and nearly every student has taken part and acquired some skill in his favorite sport. Basketball, tennis, soccer, baseball, track and volley ball were the main sports engaged in this year, with skating, rowing, and hiking, in their season. The Women's Athletic Association has adopted a point system whereby a girl can earn a letter in one year, a numeral in two years and a sweater in the third or fourth year. Three girls are receiving sweaters this year while about fifteen per cent of the girls get letters and about ten per cent get numerals. This is the first year the men have received awards, ten being given on the basis of points received for competition in the different sports. The three receiving the highest number of points receive sweaters and the next seven receive letters. This is only a temporary system worked out for this year.

The biggest boost to athletics in the past year was the addition of the new field just south of the campus. It is a good field and much appreciated by both men and women.

Tennis

An early spring, good courts, and fine tennis weather have all helped to make our spring tennis season a decided success.

The newly adopted perpetual tournament brought players of their own ranking together and provided keen competition for the placings. By this system each player is given a ranking and may then challenge any of the four men above him. If the challenger wins the match he then changes ranking with his opponent. The system developed a keen interest last fall when Ed Roupp held first place while Professor Cressman, Leonard Kreider, and Nelson Starr continually threatened to take his position. In one of the last matches of the fall Kreider succeeded in defeating the hard driving champion, Roupp.

This spring the competition for the first place centered between Professor Cressman, Leonard Kreider, and Glenwood Schertz. Unfortunately Ed Roupp could not play. His driving game was missed but Kreider and Schertz soon began to hit the baseline with smashing drives. Matches between these two players are so close with either one winning on various occasions that it is difficult to predict the final champion. The first ranking sixteen players are now in the first round of an elimination tournament to determine the championship. Interest is chiefly in singles but a double tournament may be started later.

The women are also in the first round of their tournament. In the first match Alta Brenneman defeated the last year's champion, Helen Eby, thereby making her a favorite for the championship. However, Miss Eby has an opportunity to "come-back" in the consolation tournament and may yet make a strong bid for first place.

Track

With the new quarter-mile track, and new field, track enthusiasm has run high this spring. A preliminary meet was run off on April 11 to create interest and see what material could be found for inter-class and society competition.

On May 7, an inter-society meet was held between the Adelphians and Auroras, which resulted in an easy victory for the Auroras. The Aurora team, led by Eigsti, Bender, and Sundheimer, scored high in all events, while Jennings and Steiner led the Adelphians in point getting.

Two college records were broken in the Aurora-Adelphian meet. Orie Eigsti raised the high jump record from 5 ft. 4 in. made by B. F. Stoltsfus in 1916, to 5 ft. 71 in. John Bender cut down his own record for the mile made in 1927 from 5 min. 16.8 sec. to 5 min. 6 sec. A new event on official record was added in the mile relay. This was won by the Aurora Relay team; time, 4 min. Other records likely to be broken are the broad jump, pole vault, 220-yd. and 440-yd. dashes.

An all-school meet will be held on May 16, and the final inter-class meet, the most exciting of the year, on May 23. Orie Eigsti, Junior, an ex-Bradley Tech star, deserves much credit for creating interest in track and field work. As chairman of the track committee he has been very active in arranging schedules for meets and coaching the men in practice.

Sport Review

With the coming of fine spring weather and a new diamond, baseball spirit was revived on the campus. Two teams, the Indians, and Pirates were formed to play off a five-game series. Due to the pitching ability of Eddie Gerber, present indications are that the Indians have a slight edge on the Pirates and that they will win the majority of games.

Volley-ball was the center of enthusiasm during March and April. A schedule was worked out for five competing teams, but due to the pre-season warm weather was not completed.

Good ice solved the problem of how to keep warm on cold days last winter. Mr. Alshouse, lessee of the dam for ice-cutting, kept a large field open to the gratification of every skater on the campus. Sunny afternoons, calm and moonlight nights was all that was necessary to call lovers of this sport to the smooth, glassy surface of the old skating pond.

The women's point system has created a lot of interest in hiking. Cool fall days, or breezy spring days, alike attract one to done those hiking togs and get out and tramp and tramp for hours.

Handball experienced a comeback for a few participants and is really an exciting and strenuous game. There is so much to do and such little time to do it that these few hours spent in recreation slipped around all too soon.

Physical Education

Miss Wyse ______ Director for Women

Harve Driver _____ Director for Men

Physical education is the use of motor activity to develop the individual. Its real worth depends on the kind of activities pursued and the leadership of the activities. The following aims of physical education have been drawn up by the Society of Physical Directors in Colleges:

- 1. The promotion of normal growth and organic development.
- The development in each individual through activities which appeal to his deeper instincts and emotions of those fundamental traits of character which have a direct relation to his fellows.
- The development of those personal traits which have an indirect effect on one's associates. Such traits include self-confidence, self-control, mental and moral poise, alertness, resourcefulness, decisiveness, perseverance, courage, aggressiveness, and initiative.
- 4. To create in youth an intelligent and healthful interest in physical activity that will carry over into adult life.
- To form those habits in early life which tend toward the conservation of health and to provide instruction in the science of health and the means by which it may be secured.

Most colleges require a certain amount of physical education for graduation. Goshen has made the minimum requirement of four hours. The women have fared much better than the men in this respect as they have had a competent instructor while a student director has had charge of the men's classes. Athletics, gymnastics, games, calisthenics and stunts are the tools which are used in physical education and of these athletics is the best because they are measured either by time, distance or points and consequently more interest is taken in them.

Sweaters, Letters, Numerals

The race for points is narrowing down to the last lap. Three sweaters have been given to the women, and the men are working hard for theirs. All sweaters and awards are given as a recognition of achievement and represent a certain amount of ability plus activity. Merits are given on performance only, and every person earns his own points. The Athletic Associations both sponsor the systems, and present the awards.

The women each receive a sweater upon acquiring 1600 points; 800 brings a numeral, and 400 a letter. The men's system is more competitive as only the three highest in number of points each year receive sweaters. Seven other men earn letters. The women's system is accumulative, that is, they may earn their total number of points during the four years in college, and each year's activity is added to the one before. In fact, the requirements are high enough that a sweater, representing 1600 points, could not be earned in one year. The men all start on the same level every year and the awards are given on the basis of that year's performance only. Both plans have proved satisfactory. Women receiving sweaters this year are: Ruth Miller, Alta Brenneman, and La Verne Yoder.

About a dozen will received letters, and a few, numerals. Several will be able to total 1600 points early next year.

Among the men the contest for sweaters is centering around Sundheimer, E. Gerber, Schertz, O. Eigsti, Kreider, and J. Bender. Results of the baseball series, all-school track meet, and tennis tournament will determine the three who win sweaters as well as the seven who will receive letters.

College Life

College Life

In the following pages are recorded some of the events that mark the high spots in the life of the students and also some of the more common and less significant happenings that fill the time between the "high lights." Wednesday 12—"Twas the night before the prayer group when all thru the dorm.

Not a creature was stirring, not one single form;

The girls were all quiet and sat in a row,

With rhoughts on the higher and better you know;

When out on the porch there arose such a clatter,

I opened one eye to see what was the matter!

I knew by the step, 'twas the masculine gender,

And I says to myself, 'I bet that's John Bender.'

The bell loudly clanged, the door ope'd with a shock.

And the look on John's face would have sure stopped a clock.

His eyes how they twinkled, his dimples how merry,

His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry.

All I saw as he wheeled, turned madly and fled,

Was a blurred streak of grey and a small splash of red.

He dashed from the porch seven steps to the bound,—

I think the earth wabbled when he hit the ground.

Then I laughed till I cried, and I laughed

till I shook
When I thought of the pain and the remorse of his look;—

'Peep before entering,' is the moral I render, Or you might disrupt as did Johnnie Bender."

(Second prize winner in joke contest— Ruth Heatwole)

Just a Little Conundrum

Why are burglars like lumber?

Because they always go into the best houses.

Not only do we sell the majority of lumber for the best homes all around here, but we get most of the bills for barns, granaries and for all the buildings where good, sound, dry materials are required.

People have learned that there is a lot of difference in the quality of lumber, and as we make quality our "long suit" particular buyers take no chances, but buy what they need from us.

Our stock is complete and our prices as low as you can get.
